W. H. SLICKER IS MODERN TAILOR.

Opens New Place in Wood Street and is Prepared to Make the Finest Garments at Lowest Figure.

An entirely new tailoring establishment has been opened at 430 Wood street by a Hill Top man, William H. Slicker. He is well-known as a man of integrity whose seventeen years experience in Pittsburgh making high-class clothes has earned him a reputation second to none. He opened his establishment Wednesday, March 8, in a central location and, with the best quality of foreign and domestic wools, is prepared with new ideas, new tailoring and the latest styles to please the most exacting as to the fit and appearance of his garments.

What should especially attract lovers of fine clothes is that Mr. Slicker is prepared to put his best workmanship and tried experience into an high-grade suit or overcoat for only $20. Mr. Slicker is known to be a man of his word and when he says he will turn his skilled tailoring into an elegant suit for this price you can depend upon it that he will stick to his bargain.

His superior workmanship has gained him so favorable a reputation that on the day of the opening he received many floral emblems from New York and Pittsburgh. Fred R. Williamson, of New York, sent him a congratulatory letter wishing him the acme of success. Mr. Slicker resides in 446 Excelsior street, Alleentown. He was born and reared on the South Side and is a prominent Elk.
